

Spring Exhibition Report Quarr Gallery - 15th-20th March 2018

In all 33 artists from IWAC exhibited a total of 86 pictures for hanging + 12 miniatures for the Miniatures cabinet and a further 43 browsers.

The exhibition went up in almost record time, thanks to the 'Hanging Committee'. The card displays and miniatures cabinet also looked good.

The Preview on the Wednesday evening was almost bursting at the seams. If you really wanted to see the pictures you had to come back another day!

Thanks once again to all those who helped make the Exhibition happen: those who gave their time, those who kindly loaned equipment for the duration and, of course, the Artists! It really does take a considerable effort, but the results were amazing.

The feedback on the work displayed was excellent from all and the standard a credit to the Club.

The weather was not in our remit to influence! We must have upset the gods! Still, we opened every day except Sunday and were there to provide a warm welcome to the few brave souls at Quarr. Footfall was inevitably down with the cold and snow, but we did manage to sell 11 pictures and 90 cards. At least August for the next exhibition is unlikely to be as cold!

"Vote for your Favourite Picture" was won by Galina Zastava with her much admired "Something Old, Something New... Something Blue". In 2nd place was Jane Absolom again, with the haunting "Amur Portrait"
